BASIC RULES OF PET OWNERSHIP

County Animal Licenses: Residents of unincorporated Jefferson County are required to have all of their dogs and cats licensed with Animal Control, annually or every three-years. For both inside and outside dogs and cats, this license must be displayed on the animal's collar at all times.

Rabies Vaccination Required: Residents of unincorporated Jefferson County are required to have all of their dogs and cats, both inside and outside pets, vaccinated against rabies with either the one-year vaccination or the three-year anti-rabies vaccination, and this vaccination must be registered Animal Control to obtain a County Animal License. Proof of vaccination must be available to provide to Animal Control upon demand.

Animals are Prohibited from Running at Large: Jefferson County ordinances prohibit animal owners, harborers or keepers from allowing their animals from running at large. All animals must be physically restrained to the property of their owner, harborer or keeper.

Animal Owners must Provide Adequate Care and Control for Their Animals: Jefferson County requires that animal owners, harborers or keepers provide adequate care or control of their animals, by providing adequate food, water, shelter, veterinary care and a safe, clean, healthy living environment, and by ensuring they are under control sufficient enough to prevent injury to themselves, other animals or people.

Leash Law: When dog or cat owners, harborers or keepers take their pets off of their property, the owner, harborer or keeper of the pet must have the animal on a leash.

Owners must Not Allow their Animals to Bite or Attack Another Animal or Person: Animal owners, harborers or keepers must not allow their animals to attack or bite another animal or to a human.
